Need help completing your federal financial aid form?

Financial aid administrators at North Carolina college and university campuses work with students, families, and high schools to help with FAFSA completion. CFNC's financial aid map identifies every N.C. campus and provides financial aid contact information: https://www.cfnc.org/pay/fafsa_day.jsp.

In addition, College Foundation of North Carolina, in partnership with the North Carolina Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators and the State Employees’ Credit Union, sponsors “FAFSA Day.” On that day, students and their families meet with college financial aid officers who help them complete and submit their Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) forms. FAFSA Day is held on Saturday, October 26, 2019. Program details, a list of sites, and registration information will be available at CFNC.org/afsfaday or by calling College Foundation of North Carolina, toll-free, at 866-866-CFNC.

If you have a disability as defined in the Americans with Disabilities Act and need to participate in FAFSA Day, please contact College Foundation of North Carolina at 866-866-CFNC by October 1, 2019. Requests received after this date will be considered to the fullest extent possible.

In 2019, State Employees’ Credit Union is providing assistance with FAFSA completion during the entire month of November. Each branch will be offering help completing the FAFSA at no cost. Please contact your local branch to make an appointment.

An Overview of Financial Assistance for Students

“What are you going to do after high school?”
For many students, that question is difficult to answer when there is no money to pay for vocational or technical training, or for a two-year or four-year college. Fortunately, there is a lot of money available to help students reach their dreams of a college education or training beyond high school. The following information briefly describes the types of aid available and how to apply for financial aid.

Types of Financial Aid
There are three types of financial aid available to students:

1) Scholarships or Grants: Money that does not have to be repaid or earned; it is sometimes referred to as “free money.” Scholarships and grants are available based on the student’s financial need (need-based) or based on the student’s academic achievements or special talents (merit-based).

2) Loans: Funds that must be repaid either in cash, usually with interest, or through service. Loans made with a service option usually require that the student repay the loan after graduation by working a specified number of years in a particular field.

3) Work: Funds that a student earns through a job on or off the college campus. The student has the opportunity to work and earn money to assist with the expenses associated with college.

Applying for Financial Aid
To be considered for financial aid, students must apply using the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). The application is available at www.fafsa.gov or you may call 800-4-FedAid (800-433-3243). As the name says, there is no charge to complete this application and by doing so, you will be considered for all types of federal financial aid. It is important to complete this form before the deadlines published by the college you wish to attend. The federal government has recently made several changes to make applying for aid easier. For students attending college in the 2020-2021 school year, FAFSA applications will be available for completion on October 1, 2019. Additionally, families use tax information from 2018 to complete the 2020-21 FAFSA.

All students who want to be considered for financial aid should complete the FAFSA; however, some colleges and universities, as well as some separate scholarship programs, require additional forms. Students should check with the college they wish to attend to see if there are additional forms to be completed.

Financial Aid Resources
• After the FAFSA has been submitted, the college(s) that the student listed on the FAFSA will receive an estimate of how much the student’s family can pay toward the cost of college. The financial aid office will use that information to put together a financial aid “package,” consisting of one or more grants, scholarships, loans, and/or work opportunities to help cover the difference between what it costs to attend the college and what the family can pay. Students will be notified of the type and amount of each source of aid and information about how the student will receive the funds. The student should then respond to the college regarding whether he/she wants to accept the offered funds.

• In many communities, local service clubs, civic organizations, employers, churches, and others have college scholarships available. Usually your high school counselor will have information on how to apply for these scholarships.

• Students may want to explore other sources of financial aid by completing a scholarship search program on the internet. Check out CFNC’s scholarship page at:

https://www.cfnc.org/paying/schol/all_schols.jsp

It is generally not advisable for students to pay for a search, especially with so many free searches available on the internet. Your school counselor or the financial aid office at the college you wish to attend can recommend additional websites for your use.

• To assist prospective students in learning more about the state’s many institutions of higher education, a listing of North Carolina colleges and universities can be found near the back of this publication.

• The best and most comprehensive online source for free financial aid information for North Carolina residents is College Foundation of North Carolina, CFNC.org. The website also provides comprehensive information to help students plan for and apply to college.

• You may also call the toll-free number for College Foundation of North Carolina, 866-866-CFNC (2362) to speak with a college planning specialist, who will provide information and answers to your questions about planning, applying, and paying for college.
College Foundation of North Carolina

As part of its commitment to help more students obtain an education beyond high school, the State Education Assistance Authority actively participates in the College Foundation of North Carolina (CFNC). This collaborative effort involves working with College Foundation Inc., the University of North Carolina, the North Carolina Community College System, North Carolina Independent Colleges and Universities, and the Department of Public Instruction in providing a comprehensive website and a call center, staffed with college planning and financing specialists. Fiscal year 2020 marks the 19th full year of CFNC.

The service provides, in one place, the information North Carolina students and families need to plan, apply, and pay for college. CFNC helps communicate through a single, one-stop resource that higher education is available and possible for all North Carolinians, creating more opportunities than ever to go to college.

Via CFNC.org, students can use a wide range of career exploration and planning tools; maintain a personal portfolio to record courses taken, test scores and accomplishments; visit a virtual “College Fair” to compare, explore and link to more than 110 North Carolina colleges and universities; apply online for college admission and financial aid; and access financial planning, college savings, loan, grant and scholarship information.

The CFNC Call Center, accessed toll-free at 866-866-CFNC (2362), offers specialists in career counseling, academic advising, and financial resources for college. Students, families, and counselors are encouraged to call with individual questions or to request more information.

With CFNC’s expanded services, families with young children are able to start early in their financial and academic planning for college. For those families with high school students or adults soon anticipating college enrollment, CFNC provides detailed guidance on both college admission and financial aid.

Glossary of Financial Aid Terms

Academic Year – An academic year requires a minimum of 30 weeks of instructional time for a program that measures its length in credit hours or a minimum of 26 weeks of instructional time for a program that measures its length in clock hours. For an undergraduate program, a year is at least 24 semester or trimester hours, or 36 quarter hours for a course of study that measures its program length in credit hours or 900 clock hours for a course of study that measures its program length in clock hours. All programs must define an academic year that conforms to the minimum requirements even if the program itself is shorter than those minimum requirements.

Award Notification/Letter – An official notice, issued by the financial aid office, that lists all the financial aid awarded to the student. This communication may be online and generally provides the expected family contribution, cost of attendance, and the terms of the aid awarded.

Capitalization – The process of adding unpaid interest to the principal balance of an educational loan, increasing the principal amount of the loan that must be repaid.

Consolidation – A loan program that allows a borrower to combine several educational loans into one new loan. This process extends the repayment period and also lowers the monthly payment, though it may result in higher overall interest payments.

Cost of Attendance (COA) – The total cost of an education, which is usually expressed as a yearly amount. COA includes tuition and fees, room and board, an allowance for books and supplies, transportation, and miscellaneous expenses, dependent care, study abroad expenses, disability expenses, employment expenses for co-op study and loan fees. The amount is determined by the financial aid office of the institution.

Default – Failure to repay a student loan according to the terms of a promissory note signed by the student. The organization that holds the loan (the state or the federal government) can take action to recover the money, including notifying national credit bureaus of the default. Wages and/or tax refunds of the defaulter may be garnished, and the borrower will no longer be eligible to receive federal financial aid until the defaulted loan is repaid or the borrower has made six full, on-time, consecutive monthly payments.

Deferment – An authorized period of time during which a borrower may postpone principal and interest payments. Deferments are available to borrowers who are in school at least half-time, enrolled in a graduate fellowship program, experiencing periods of unemployment or economic hardship, or in some cases, while teaching in shortage areas or low income schools, or for volunteering with the Peace Corps, VISTA, etc.

Dependent Student – For financial aid purposes, an undergraduate student is usually classified as a dependent and is expected to have access to parental financial resources if he/she is not married, does not have legal dependents, including children that he/she supports more than 50%, is not a veteran, is not currently serving on active duty (including National Guard or Reserves activated by Federal Authority) in the U.S. Armed Forces for purposes other than training, was not an orphan, ward of the court, or foster child at the age of 13 or any time thereafter, or is not an emancipated minor, in legal guardianship, or unaccompanied youth who is homeless or self-supporting and at risk of homelessness and under 24 years of age.

Entrance/Exit Interviews – Counseling sessions for borrowers are required before their first loan disbursement can be released and before the borrower leaves school.

Expected Family Contribution (EFC) – Determined by a formula, this figure indicates how much of a family’s financial resources are expected to help pay for the student’s education. The EFC is used in determining eligibility for financial aid. Both FM (federal methodology) and IM (institutional methodology) use the EFC concept, although the calculated EFC under the two methodologies may differ.

FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) – The federal aid application that must be completed by students who want to be considered for federal and state need-based aid.

FM (Federal Methodology) – An eligibility formula, mandated by the U.S. Congress, that determines the student’s and the family’s “expected family contribution” (EFC). This formula is used in making allocations of federal aid and, at some colleges and universities, for making institutional aid decisions as well.
Financial Aid Package – The total financial aid a student receives to meet educational expenses. It may include federal, state, and private aid such as grants, loans, work study, and scholarships.

Financial Need – The difference between the Cost of Attendance and the Estimated Family Contribution. It is used in determining what the student’s aid package will be.

Forbearance – A period of time during which the borrower is permitted to temporarily cease making payments or reduce the amount of payments. The borrower is liable for the interest that accrues on the loan during the forbearance period.

Forgivable Loan for Service – A form of financial aid that has a service and/or cash repayment obligation as a condition for receiving the funds. A student must promise to repay the money upon graduation or withdrawal from the program within a specified time period, either through service in a certain geographical and /or subject area or in cash at a predetermined interest rate.

Full-Time Student – For undergraduate students, this is usually a minimum of 12 semester hours of enrollment in a degree-granting program.

General Education Development (GED) Certificate – A certificate students receive if they’ve passed a specific, approved high school equivalency test. Students who don’t have a high school diploma but who have a GED may still qualify for federal and state student aid.

Grace Period – Period of time when a borrower leaves school or drops below half-time and the borrower is not obligated to begin repayment of his/her loans — usually six or nine months.

Grant – Financial aid awarded on the basis of need or merit that the student is not obligated to repay.

IM (Institutional Methodology) – A need-analysis formula developed by College Board’s College Scholarship Service. It determines the student’s and the family’s capacity to pay for college each year, and is used by some postsecondary institutions for awarding institutional and private financial aid.

Independent Student – For financial aid purposes, a student is classified as an independent student if at least one of the following applies: he/she is 24 or older, is married, is enrolled in a graduate or professional educational program (beyond a bachelor’s degree), has legal dependents other than a spouse, was an orphan, foster child, or ward/dependent of the court at any time since age 13, is an emancipated minor, in legal guardianship or was determined at any time since July 1, 2012, to be an unaccompanied youth who was homeless or was self-supporting and at risk of being homeless, is a veteran of the U.S. armed forces (defined as a student who has engaged in active service in the U.S. Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines or Coast Guard and was released under a condition other than dishonorable, including a student who attended a U.S. military academy but withdrew in good standing), or is currently serving on active duty in the U.S. Armed Forces for purposes other than training and activated by federal authority.

Interest – The charge made to a borrower for use of a lender’s money.

Institutional Student Information Record (ISIR) – An electronic record for schools that contains a student’s Expected Family Contribution (EFC), as calculated by the Central Processing System, as well as all the financial and other data submitted by the student on the FAFSA.

Need Analysis – The process of reviewing a student’s aid application to determine the ability of the family to contribute to the costs of education. Completing a need analysis form (e.g., FAFSA or PROFILE) is the required step in applying for most types of financial aid.

North Carolina State Education Assistance Authority (NCSEAA) – The state agency in North Carolina that promotes access to higher education by administering financial aid and savings programs, informing students and families about paying for college, teaching educators about financial aid administration, and advocating for resources to support students. For more information, visit ncseaa.edu.

Origination Fee – A fee charged by the federal government and deducted from the loan before disbursement to offset part of the administrative costs of the William D. Ford Federal Direct Loan Program (DL).

Principal – The initial amount of the student loan. Interest is charged on this amount, and origination fee is deducted from the principal prior to disbursement.

Priority Filing Deadline – The date by which a student needs to submit the FAFSA for priority consideration for institutional funds. These dates are set by each individual college or university. While students can submit the FAFSA later than this date, their award may be smaller if funds have been exhausted.
PROFILE – A need-analysis form required by some institutions for non-federal aid and processed through the College Board’s College Scholarship Service (CSS). This form can be found at https://cssprofile.collegeboard.org.

Promissory Note – The legal document that a borrower must sign when he/she receives an educational loan that lists conditions under which the money is borrowed and the terms under which he/she agrees to repay the loan with interest.

Residency – In North Carolina, a person does not necessarily have to be a U.S. citizen to be classified as a North Carolina resident for tuition purposes. A list of eligible immigration statuses for non-citizens can be found in the RDS Guidebook which can be found on the RDS website.

However, a person must reside in this state for at least 12 months prior to the date of enrollment or re-enrollment in a postsecondary institution. Some factors include place of abode, place where one votes, place of jury service, place of car registration or license, driver’s license, place of employment, state where income tax is paid, location of personal property, and location where one spends vacation time. Minors, and students over 18 residing in North Carolina who cannot demonstrate independence are considered residents of the state where their parents reside. A currently enrolled North Carolina resident who leaves the state is granted a 12-month grace period by the institution during which time he/she is treated as an in-state resident for tuition purposes. State law also allows active duty military personnel and their dependents to qualify for in-state tuition while stationed in North Carolina.

The Residency Determination Service (RDS) is responsible for determining residency for the purposes of state tuition and state financial aid. All undergraduate and graduate programs in North Carolina use RDS for residency determinations. Students complete an online form and their residency determination is passed to the State Grants System and campuses allowed by the student. More information on RDS can be found at http://www.ncresidency.org.

Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) – A student must be making satisfactory academic progress to continue receiving federal aid. Each institution develops its own satisfactory academic progress standards for financial aid eligibility.

Scholarship – A form of financial aid given to students on the basis of need or merit (or a combination of both) to help pay for their education expenses. Some scholarships have community service requirements and geographic, institutional or academic major restrictions. Most scholarships require the student to maintain satisfactory academic progress for renewal.

Scholarship-Loan – A form of financial aid that has a service and/or cash repayment obligation as a condition for receiving the funds. A student must promise to repay the money upon graduation or withdrawal from the program within a specified time period either through service in a certain geographical and/or subject area or in cash at a predetermined interest rate. Also known as a Forivable Loan.

Selective Service Registration – A male student must register with the Selective Service to receive federal and/or state student aid. The requirement applies to males who are at least 18 and are not currently on active duty in the armed forces.

Student Aid Report (SAR) – A federal “output” document sent to a student by the Central Processing System. The SAR contains financial and other information reported by the student on the FAFSA. A student receives a paper SAR if he or she files a paper FAFSA and does not provide a valid email address. The student receives a link to online SAR information if he or she provides a valid email address on the FAFSA. The student’s Expected Family Contribution (EFC) is included on the SAR. All information reported on the SAR is also sent to schools the student listed on the FAFSA.

Subsidized Loan – A need-based loan on which the interest is paid by the federal government while the borrower is enrolled in school or during grace and deferment periods. For Direct Subsidized Loans first disbursed between July 1, 2012, and July 1, 2014, the borrower will be responsible for paying any interest that accrues during the grace period. If the interest is not paid during the grace period, the interest will be added to the loan’s principal balance.

Unsubsidized Loan – A non need-based loan for which borrowers are responsible for interest from the date the loan is disbursed.

Verification – A review process to determine the accuracy of the information on a student’s financial aid application. If a student is selected for verification, he/she is required to submit acceptable documentation to support information on his/her FAFSA application.

The formula produces an Expected Family Contribution (EFC) number that is used by the institution to determine the amount of the Federal Pell Grant.

Eligible students must:
• Be undergraduates enrolled as either part-time or full-time students in an approved postsecondary institution who have not already earned a bachelor’s or professional degree
• Be citizens or permanent residents of the United States

Value: Amounts vary and are awarded on the basis of need, enrollment status, length of enrollment, and cost of education at the school the student attends. The maximum annual award for 2019-2020 was $6,195; the minimum annual award was $657 (full-time enrollment).

Application Procedure: Student applies for a Federal Pell Grant by filling out the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). The Federal Pell Grant is included as part of his/her total financial aid package developed by the college the student attends. Annual application is required. See the webpage at: http://studentaid.ed.gov/guide.

Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant Program (FSEOG)

Eligibility: A student must be an undergraduate and have exceptional financial need to qualify for an FSEOG award. The amount of financial need is determined by the educational institution the student attends. Recipients must be citizens or permanent residents of the United States. Value: The value of the award is determined by the need of the recipient and the available funds. An award may not be less than $100, and the maximum award is usually $4,000 per year.

Application Procedure: Student applies for an FSEOG award by filling out the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). The FSEOG will be included as part of the student’s total financial aid package developed by the college the student attends. Annual application is required. See the webpage at: http://studentaid.ed.gov/guide.

William D. Ford Federal Direct Loan Program (DL)

The William D. Ford Federal Direct Loan Program has been in operation since 1994 and is named for a U.S. congressman. Loans made through this program are referred to as Direct Loans and include the Federal Direct Subsidized Stafford Loan, the Federal Direct Unsubsidized Stafford Loan, the Federal Direct PLUS Loan, and the Federal Direct Consolidation Loan. Funding for loans is provided by the U.S. Department of the Treasury, and colleges and universities act as agents for the Department of Education in making educational loans to students and parents for college expenses. The student’s and/ or parent’s obligation for repayment is between the borrower and the federal government.

Federal Direct Stafford Loans

Federal Direct Stafford Loans are either subsidized or unsubsidized, depending on whether the student has demonstrated financial need. Subsidized means that the federal government pays the interest on the loan for the student while the student is in an in-school, grace, or deferment period. Unsubsidized means that the student is responsible for the interest for the entire life of the loan.

Eligibility: Applicant must meet the following eligibility requirements:
- Be enrolled at least half-time during the loan period
- Be enrolled in a program of study that leads to a degree or certificate
- Have received a determination of eligibility or ineligibility for a Federal Pell Grant
- Be a US citizen or eligible noncitizen

Value: The amount a student can borrow through the Direct Loan Program depends on the student’s collegiate grade level and dependency status as noted below:

Annual Loan Limits

Dependent Students

- Freshmen
  - $5,500 (including up to $3,500 subsidized)
- Sophomores
  - $6,500 (including up to $4,500 subsidized)
- Juniors & Seniors
  - $7,500 (including up to $5,500 subsidized)

Independent Students

- Freshmen
  - $9,500 (including up to $3,500 subsidized)
- Sophomores
  - $10,500 (including up to $4,500 subsidized)
- Juniors & Seniors
  - $12,500 (including up to $5,500 subsidized)

Graduate Students

- $20,500 (For loan periods beginning and after July 1, 2012, graduate/professional students are no longer eligible to receive Direct Subsidized loans.)

The cumulative lifetime amount that any student can borrow through the Direct Loan Program (subsidized & unsubsidized) is indicated below:

Dependent Undergraduate

- $31,000 (no more than $23,000 subsidized)

Independent Undergraduate

- $57,500 (no more than $23,000 subsidized)

Graduate/Professional Students

The annual loan limit for graduate or professional students is $20,500 in Direct Unsubsidized Loans per academic year. The regulations define a graduate/professional student as a student who is enrolled in a program or course above the baccalaureate level or in a professional program and has completed the equivalent of 3 academic years of full-time study either prior to entering the program or as part of the program itself. Also, a student who is receiving Title IV aid as an undergraduate student can’t be considered a graduate/professional student for that same period of enrollment.

Repayment: Repayment of a Federal Direct Stafford Loan begins six months after the student ceases enrollment as at least a half-time student and usually extends up to 10 years. In certain situations, students may delay repayment by requesting a deferment, which is granted under a variety of conditions set forth in federal regulations. You may also ask your financial aid officer for additional information.

Interest Rates: The interest rate for Direct Subsidized and Direct Unsubsidized Loans for undergraduate students disbursed on or after July 1, 2019, and before July 1, 2020, is 4.53%. A 1.062% origination fee is deducted from the amount borrowed.
The interest rate for Direct Unsubsidized Loans for graduate students disbursed on or after July 1, 2019, and before July 1, 2020, is 6.08%. A 1.062% origination fee is deducted from the amount borrowed.

Repayment Incentives
A repayment incentive is a benefit that is offered to encourage the borrower to repay the loan on time. Under a repayment incentive program, the interest rate charged on the loan may be reduced.

• Interest Rate Reduction for Automatic Withdrawal Payments
  Under the Automatic Withdrawal payment option, the bank automatically deducts the monthly loan payment from the checking or savings account and sends the payment to the loan holder or loan servicer. Borrowers receive a 0.25% interest rate reduction when making payments through this option.

Repayment Plans
Generally, a borrower has from 10 to 25 years to repay the loan, depending on which repayment plan is selected. The following repayment plans are available:

• Standard Repayment Plan: Payments are a fixed amount that ensures your loans are paid off within 10 years (within 10 to 30 years for Consolidation Loans).

• Graduated Repayment Plan: Payments are lower at first and then increase, usually every two years, and are for an amount that will ensure your loans are paid off within 10 years (within 10 to 30 years for Consolidation Loans).

• Extended Repayment Plan: Payments may be fixed or graduated, and will ensure that your loans are paid off within 25 years.

• Revised Pay As You Earn Repayment Plan (REPAYE): Any Direct Loan borrower with an eligible loan type may choose this plan. Your monthly payments will be 10 percent of discretionary income. Payments are recalculated each year and are based on your updated income and family size. You must update your income and family size each year, even if they haven’t changed. If you’re married, your spouse’s income or loan debt will be considered only if you file a joint tax return. Any outstanding balance on your loan will be forgiven if you haven’t repaid your loan in full after 20 years.

• Income-Based Repayment (IBR): Your monthly payments will be either 10 or 15 percent of discretionary income (depending on when you received your first loans), but never more than you would have paid under the 10-year Standard Repayment Plan. Payments are recalculated each year and are based on your updated income and family size. You must update your income and family size each year, even if they haven’t changed. If you’re married, your spouse’s income or loan debt will be considered only if you file a joint tax return. Any outstanding balance on your loan will be forgiven if you haven’t repaid your loan in full after 20 years or 25 years, depending on when you received your first loans. You may have to pay income tax on any amount that is forgiven.

• Pay As You Earn Repayment Plan: You must be a new borrower on or after Oct. 1, 2007, and must have received a disbursement of a Direct Loan on or after Oct 7, 2011. Your monthly payments will be 10 percent of discretionary income, but never more than you would have paid under the 10-year Standard Repayment Plan. Payments are recalculated each year and are based on your updated income and family size. You must update your income and family size each year, even if they haven’t changed. If you’re married, your spouse’s income or loan debt will be considered only if you file a joint tax return. Any outstanding balance on your loan will be forgiven if you haven’t repaid your loan in full after 20 years.

• Income-Contingent Repayment Plan (for Direct Subsidized and Unsubsidized Loans and Direct PLUS Loans for Graduate and Professional Students): Your monthly payment will be the lesser of: 20 percent of discretionary income, or the amount you would pay on a repayment plan with a fixed payment over 12 years, adjusted according to your income. Payments are recalculated each year and are based on your updated income, family size, and the total amount of your Direct Loans. You must update your income and family size each year, even if they haven’t changed. If you’re married, your spouse’s income or loan debt will be considered only if you file a joint tax return or you choose to repay your Direct Loans jointly with your spouse. Any outstanding balance will be forgiven if you haven’t repaid your loan in full after 25 years.

• Income Sensitive Repayment Plan: Your monthly payment is based on annual income, but your loan will be paid in full within 15 years.

Application Procedure: Complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), available at www.fafsa.gov. The information from your application will be shared with the schools that you have identified on the FAFSA. Some schools have additional application procedures—check with your college’s financial aid office to be certain. Follow the instructions of your college financial aid office for obtaining a Direct Loan application promissory note at www.StudentLoans.gov.
NOTE:

NSLDS:

Direct Loans also are reported to the National Student Loan Data System (NSLDS), accessible at https://nslds.ed.gov/nslds/nslds_SA/ which maintains your overall financial aid history for federal student aid.

Remember:

Federal student loans are real loans, just like car loans or mortgage loans. You must repay a student loan even if your financial circumstances become difficult. Federal student loans usually cannot be written off in bankruptcy. They cannot be canceled because you did not get the education or job you expected, and they cannot be canceled because you did not complete your education (unless you could not complete your education because your school closed).

American Opportunity Tax Credit

Taxpayers may be eligible to claim a partially refundable tax credit against their federal income taxes. The American Opportunity Tax Credit may be claimed for qualified tuition and related expenses, including books, supplies and equipment needed for a course of study, for each student in the taxpayer’s family (i.e. the taxpayer, the taxpayer’s spouse, or an eligible dependent) who is enrolled at least half-time in postsecondary education and who is enrolled in a program leading to a degree, certificate, or other recognized educational credential. The amount that may be claimed as a credit is generally equal to:

1. 100% of the first $2,000 of the taxpayer’s out-of-pocket expenses for each student’s qualified expenses, plus
2. 25% of the next $2,000 of the taxpayer’s out-of-pocket expenses for each student’s qualified expenses.

Thus, the maximum credit a taxpayer may claim for a taxable year is $2,500 multiplied by the number of students in the family who meet the enrollment criteria described above. The credit is 40% refundable, which means a family that does not earn enough to pay income taxes will get up to $1,000 back through a refundable credit.

The amount a taxpayer may claim as an American Opportunity Tax Credit is gradually phased out for taxpayers who have modified adjusted gross income between $80,000-90,000 for single filers and between $160,000-180,000 for married taxpayers filing jointly. Taxpayers earning more than $90,000 for single filers or qualified expenses. Thus, the maximum credit a taxpayer may claim for a taxable year is $2,500 multiplied by the number of students in the family who meet the enrollment criteria described above. The credit is 40% refundable, which means a family that does not earn enough to pay income taxes will get up to $1,000 back through a refundable credit.

Coverdell Education Savings Accounts (formerly known as Education IRA)

A Coverdell Education Savings Account (ESA) is a trust or custodial account that is created exclusively for the purpose of paying the qualified elementary, secondary, or post-secondary (college) education expenses of the designated beneficiary of the account. Single taxpayers with modified adjusted gross incomes (adjusted gross income as figured on federal income tax return for most taxpayers) below $110,000 ($220,000 for joint filers) may contribute up to $2,000 per year into an ESA account for a child under the age of 18 or a special needs beneficiary. Parents, grandparents, other family members, friends, and even the child himself/herself may contribute to the account, provided the total contributions made on behalf of the child do not exceed the $2,000 limit. Contributors may not take a tax deduction for contributions made to an ESA; however, the beneficiary will not owe tax on any withdrawal from the account if his/her qualified education expenses for the year equal or exceed the amount of withdrawal. Amounts withdrawn from the ESA that exceed the child’s qualified expenses are generally subject to income tax and an additional tax of 10%. The Economic Growth and Tax Relief Reconciliation Act of 2001 allows taxpayers to claim an American Opportunity Tax or Lifetime Learning credit in the same year as distributions are made from the ESA as long as the credit is not claimed for the expenses covered by the ESA. In addition, taxpayers are now permitted to make contributions to a qualified state tuition program (see North Carolina's National College Savings Plan) in the same tax year as they make contributions to an ESA.

The term “qualified education benefit” now includes Coverdell. The account is treated as an asset of the owner unless owned by a dependent student and then it is considered an asset of the parents. It is not included as an adjustment to the Cost of Attendance (COA) or considered as a resource or estimated financial assistance. The value of the asset that must be reported on the FAFSA is the balance of the account at the time the FAFSA is completed. This includes accounts with a designated beneficiary other than the student for whom the FAFSA is being completed, such as a sibling of the dependent applicant or a child of the independent applicant. See www.irs.gov/pub/irs-pdf/ p970.pdf for more information.

Early Distribution from IRAs

This benefit allows taxpayers to take distributions from their IRAs before reaching age 59 1/2 and not have to pay the 10% additional tax if, for the year of the distribution, the funds are used to pay for qualified education expenses for the individual, spouse, children or grandchildren. Qualified educational expenses include tuition, fees, books, supplies, and equipment required for enrollment in postsecondary education.
or attendance at an eligible educational institution. They also include expenses for special-needs services incurred by or for special-needs students in connection with their enrollment or attendance. In addition, if the student is at least a half-time student, room and board are considered qualified education expenses. The expenses for room and board qualify only to the extent that the total is not more than the greater of the following two amounts:

• The allowance for room and board, as determined by the eligible educational institution, that was included in the cost of attendance (for federal financial aid purposes) for a particular academic period and living arrangement of the student.

• The actual amount charged if the student is residing in housing owned or operated by the eligible educational institution.

Employer Provided Educational Assistance
This benefit allows workers to exclude up to $5,250 of employer-provided educational benefits from their taxable income for undergraduate and graduate courses. Tax-free educational assistance benefits include payments for tuition, fees and similar expenses, books, supplies, and equipment. The payments do not have to be for work-related courses or courses that are part of a degree program. Employers offering tax-free educational assistance are required to have a written plan describing the benefit and the terms under which it is available. Neither the American Opportunity Tax Credit nor the Lifetime Learning Credit may be claimed for the year the student receives Employer-Provided Educational Assistance. See www.irs.gov/pub/irs-pdf/p970.pdf for additional information.

Lifetime Learning Credit
Taxpayers may be eligible to claim a nonrefundable Lifetime Learning Credit against their federal income taxes. The Lifetime Learning Credit may be claimed for the qualified tuition and related expenses of the students in the taxpayer’s family (i.e. the taxpayer, the taxpayer’s spouse, or an eligible dependent) who are enrolled in eligible educational institutions. The amount that may be claimed as a credit is equal to 20% of the taxpayer’s first $10,000 of out-of-pocket qualified tuition and related expenses. The maximum credit a taxpayer may claim for a taxable year is $2,000. These amounts are not indexed for inflation.

If the taxpayer is claiming an American Opportunity Tax Credit for a particular student, none of that student’s expenses for that year may be applied toward the Lifetime Learning Credit. The amount a taxpayer may claim as a Lifetime Learning Credit is gradually reduced for taxpayers who have modified adjusted gross incomes between $57,000 and $67,000 ($114,000 and $134,000 for taxpayers filing jointly). The definition of modified adjusted gross income is the same as it is for purposes of the American Opportunity Tax Credit. See www.irs.gov/publications/p970/index.html or www.irs.gov/pub/irs-pdf/p970.pdf for more information.

North Carolina’s National College Savings Program
North Carolina’s National College Savings Program, typically marketed as the “NC 529 Plan’ or simply, “NC 529,” is maintained by the NCSEAA to enable residents of any state to invest funds to pay the qualified education expenses of their designated beneficiaries on a flexible basis with certain tax benefits in accordance with federal tax law and, for North Carolina residents, North Carolina tax law. The Program is designed to meet the requirements of a qualified tuition program under Section 529 of the Internal Revenue Code, and while its original and primary purpose is saving for college, beginning in 2018 funds can be withdrawn from the NC 529 Plan to pay for primary and secondary tuition under certain conditions. The investment options available to participants in the Program include a federally insured deposit account product provided by the State Employees’ Credit Union and various age-based and individual investment options provided and managed by The Vanguard Group, Inc. The NC 529 Plan is administered by College Foundation, Inc. (CFI), as an agent of the NCSEAA. Participants may establish accounts by contacting CFI toll-free at 1-800-600-3453 or reviewing information and enrolling online at https://nc529.org

For North Carolinians the tax benefits of owning an account in the NC 529 Plan include:

• Account earnings accrue free from federal income tax while held under the plan.

• Withdrawals for qualified education expenses of the designated beneficiary are exempt from North Carolina and federal income taxes for both the participant and the beneficiary.

Student Loan Interest Deductions
Taxpayers who have taken loans to pay the cost of attending a postsecondary institution (for spouse, dependent, or himself/herself) may deduct the interest they paid on the student loan(s). The interest paid on qualified education loans is tax-deductible for single taxpayers with modified adjusted gross incomes less than $80,000 ($165,000 for joint filers). This deduction can reduce the amount of income subject to tax by up to $2,500 in 2018. See www.irs.gov/pub/irs-pdf/p970.pdf for additional information.
